TRUMAN ASKS CONGRESS TO LET DRAFT DIE

Reveals Army Intends To Release All Present Non-Volunteers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 3—President Truman today recommended that congress let the draft law expire March 31 and disclosed that the army soon expects to release all non-volunteers.

The army announced that nearly 100,000 draftees would be released by June 30. All commanders have been ordered to start release of eligible men.

In a message to the legislators Mr. Truman advised that the war and navy department will request re-enactment of a selective service act later if they are unable to keep the army at a strength of 1,070,000 men and the navy at its authorized strength of 571,000, through voluntary enlistments.

He requested that the services be authorized to hire—from funds already appropriated—the necessary civilian help to offset any shortage of enlisted men if strength falls below the required levels.

The White House dispatched the message to Capitol Hill while the President himself was flying to Mexico City for a three-day good will visit.

Extended Draft Law

Last spring, congress extended the draft law until March 31 of this year and raised pay scales of enlisted men. The idea then was to see whether the armed services could get all the men they needed as volunteers.

The White House decision that the law need not be extended is a short term one so far as general future military manpower policy is concerned.

President Truman has said repeatedly that he wants some form of universal training law enacted eventually. He now has a commission of educators and public leaders studying the question of what system would be best for this country. This group is expected to

Pomp Marks Start of 3-Day Good Will Visit

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, March 3—President Truman arrived by plane here today, the first United States Chief Executive ever to pay a visit to this capital.

He is here for a three-day official visit.

Artillery fired a 21-gun salute when the President landed at 10:37 a. m.

Troops formed a line before the airport building as the President's plane touched Mexican soil.

The ship left Kansas City at 3:59 a. m.

President Truman was welcomed by President Aleman, his cabinet, the governor of the federal district, Fernando Casas Aleman, not a relative of the president, and other dignitaries.

Truman came in seven hours from the cold and snow of Kansas City into the summer warmth and sunshine of Mexico.

The airport was transformed for the visit. A great platform flanked by high columns was erected for the unprecedented official session of the consultative council which made President Truman a "guest of honor" of the city. Governor Casas Aleman presented the President with an inscribed gold medal and a parchment.

The "Sacred Cow" circled the field for five minutes before landing. Then it taxied toward the buildings and stopped before the platform and the balcony where the receiving party was assembled.

Truman was the first man out of the plane. He was met near the bottom of the steps by U. S. Ambassador Walter Thurston. They stood talking a few minutes while President Aleman and Foreign Secretary Jaime Torres Bodet, ahead of the Mexican party, stood 20 feet away for photographers to get the scene of the meeting.

As artillery fired a 21 gun salute the two presidents advanced and shook hands. Then there was a round of introductions among the several score officials and the U. S. embassy staff.

The two presidents met at 11:06 a. m. and six minutes later, introductions concluded, they advanced to the platform for the presentation of the medal.

Address Both

President Truman, replying to President Aleman's welcome and the presentation of the medal, addressed himself to both of them.

"I deeply appreciate the cordial welcome" he said "to the ancient and noble city of Mexico."

He spoke of the growing familiarity with Mexico through tourists from the United States and of the "full understanding" between the two peoples.

"We are the inheritors of a great civilization" he added, "and it is the talk of the democracies of America to nurture their political and intellectual heritage until democracy has achieved its full fruition in world peace, justice and brotherhood."

The Chief Executive took off before dawn in his big C-54 plane after visiting his 94-year-old mother, confined to her home at Grandview, Mo., with a fractured hip. During his brief Missouri stay he received assurances of her steady improvement.

Mr. Truman will speak in Mexico City tonight about 11 p. m. at a state dinner in the National Palace in response to a welcoming address from President Miguel Aleman.

During the President's Missouri visit yesterday, his mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman confided to Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham that she prayed for her son's health and that he will be "the greatest president" in history. Graham the President's personal physician, said Mrs. Truman explained that she had prayed similarly for all the presidents whose careers

LILIENTHAL ON INQUIRY STAND

Defends 1931 Contract, Saying He Got No Extra Pay for Dual Office.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 3—David E. Lilienthal today showed the senate atomic committee a 1931 contract which he contended proved he received no pay from a Chicago firm for current services while he was a Wisconsin public utilities commissioner.

Lilienthal began his testimony shortly after Senator Capehart (R-Ind) had issued a statement saying he would oppose Lilienthal's nomination as chairman of the atomic energy commission because he "has held and continues to hold to the philosophy of the New Deal."

Lilienthal told the committee it was "ironic" to face charges that he had violated Wisconsin law by receiving outside compensation while he was on the state payroll.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), chief opponent of Lilienthal, had charged the nominee with such a violation in previous committee hearings.

"Bit on Ironic Side"

"The imputation made now, 16 years later, that I violated the letter or the spirit of a law which requires a commissioner to 'devote his entire time to the duties of his office' and not to 'pursue any other business or vocation seems a bit on the ironic side to me," Lilienthal testified.

The witness read a contract under which the Commerce Clearing House, a subsidiary of the Corporation Trust Co., agreed to pay him $240 weekly while he was a Wisconsin commissioner.

The contract stipulated that he was to "render no personal services and receive no compensation" for such services, but was to be paid for the expenses of maintaining his office and staff. This staff was to continue to put out a loose leaf reporting service on legal opinions, a service for which the then 31-year-old Lilienthal had been paid $385 weekly for editing.

The contract said that an additional margin of payments would be made to Lilienthal for past services he had performed in setting up the reporting service. It said these payments would average $2,000 a year.

It was only after he showed Philip LaFollette, then governor of Wisconsin, the contract and the governor had passed upon it that he was appointed to the utilities commission, Lilienthal said. LaFollette has already told the committee that Lilienthal filed such a statement with his office.

In opposing Lilienthal, Capehart took the position that New Deal was "repudiated by the great majority of the American people, both Democrats and Republicans," at last November's election. He added:

"Mr. Lilienthal cannot carry with him the confidence of the majority of the American people and it is of the utmost importance to this nation and the world that whoever is chairman of the atomic energy commission have the confidence of the people."

$64 Question in Ohio Assembly Is Just Who's in Financial Trap

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 3—The $64 question in the Ohio legislature these days is just who has who in a financial bear trap.

Chairmen of the state and house finance committees consider they have trapped each other in his own report on money available for "extra" appropriations above state operating expenses.

The money dispute broke into the open after the senate education committee started early hearings on the Daniels-Cramer school subsidy bill calling for an "extra" $40,000,000 or so each year of the biennium.

Chairman Paul H. Ballard (R-Jackson) of the house finance committee quickly huddled with administration officials and came up with a report that only about $42,000,000 would be available for "extras."

Ballard said he felt representatives, especially new members, should be informed that if most of the extra money went to schools, other equally pressing needs would go begging.

The report was rushed by a special committee to the house which approved it while the school bill still was in Sen. Virgil E. Cramer's education committee. It's still there.

Begins Burning Midnight Oil

No sooner had Ballard reported that Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland), senate finance committee chairman and co-sponsor of the school bill, started burning the midnight oil.

Convinced Ballard's figures were "out of line," Daniels came up a few days later with his own report to the senate that from $80,000,000 to possibly $100,000,000 would be available for extras this biennium.

Friends said the senator worked in secrecy lest his activities "leak" to house members and give them a chance of getting "off the limb" by revising their report. Representatives claim Daniels is the one on a limb.

Daniels, who has a flare for oratory, sprung his "honest and realistic" estimates on the senate in an hour-long report. By coincidence, possibly the only senator who knew what was coming occupied the senate president's chair during his absence and accorded Daniels the floor.

Another Coincidence Noted

Another coincidence was the large number of school supervisors in the senate gallery at the time. They were attending a convention here and just happened to be in the senate chamber for the show.

Daniels bolstered his report with figures, pointing out that Ballard listed only $422,000,000 in "receipts" for the last two years as the basis for figuring the amount available for 1947-48.

He further cited a wide discrepancy between administration estimates of state income and the amounts actually collected in recent years. Receipts since 1939, he said, were nearly $229,000,000 more than estimates and largely accounted for the state's present $161,000,000 surplus.

Both Daniels and Ballard subscribe to a "pay-as-you-go" state spending policy but the senator said he couldn't see any point in building a surplus when extra money was needed for schools, local governments, welfare operations, state employe pay increases and other benefits.

Just how the financial battle may affect the school bill's fate was unclear but rumors were current that failure of opponents to appear at last week's education committee hearing on the measure was only the lull before the storm.

Indications were that opponents at next Tuesday's hearing would be on hand to ask how few teachers could meet the requirements in the bill for $2,000 minimum annual salaries for instructors with the proper qualifications.

They also want to ask the committee whether omission of the word "public" in connection with schools and school districts in the pending bill would make foundation money available to other schools.

County Group Meets Today

Teachers To Decide on Proposed Call on State Legislature.

Final decision on a proposed march of Marion county school teachers on the state capital in behalf on increased state aid for the public schools was to be made at 4:30 this afternoon at a meeting of the County Teachers association in the common pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

The march was first proposed at a meeting here last Wednesday. The decision to make the march was contingent on the results of a conference of a Marion county committee with Gov. Herbert Friday morning.

The committee, composed of Edward Howell of Caledonia and Robert Thomas of Pleasant Township school met Gov. Herbert Friday morning but failed to get its desired indorsment of the new state school aid bill now before the legislature. The committee was accompanied to Columbus by D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools.

Will Make Report

Mr. Howell and Mrs. Thomas were to report to the teachers this afternoon on the results of their Columbus trip.

At the meeting last Wednesday the teachers also decided the trip would not be made without approval of the various boards of education in the county. There are 13 rural schools.

Melvin Bernow of the Pleasant school and president of the county association, said this morning a preliminary survey indicated about half the county boards had approved the trip. A full report on the attitude of the boards was to be made this afternoon.

The original intention was to make the trip today or tomorrow. Mr. Bernow said it still would be possible to go Tuesday if the teachers definitely decide to make the march. About 60 are expected to be in the delegation. Plans call for contacting members of the legislature, particularly members of the education committee of the house where the school bill now is being studied.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN WORKERS OUT TODAY

Local Drive Gets Under Way in Full Force.

Men and women enlisted in the 1947 campaign to raise $27,060, Marion county's quota of the national Red Cross budget, joined thousands of others throughout the nation in the opening of the annual drive Saturday. "Give Where You Live" is the slogan for the city and county. The national goal is $60,000,000.

While the inclement weather compelled some of the workers to remain indoors Saturday most of them were on the job today, with an eye on the deadline for the local campaign which is just two weeks off.

Although the entire month has been designated as Red Cross month, it is the aim of the local city and county workers to complete their task by March 15. The first report meeting will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at campaign headquarters in the production center, 183 East Center street.

FOUR-INCH FALL OF SNOW MAKES DRIVING RISKY

Numerous Accidents Reported; Schools Closed in Hardin County.

Four inches of snow and high winds over the weekend played havoc with traffic throughout this area and closed several rural schools as winter played a return engagement throughout the country from Florida north.

Police reported 11 accidents, most of them due to slippery streets. The state patrol reported two mishaps in which cars went out of control on slick highways.

In Hardin county seven schools closed because impassable condition of the roads tied up school buses. Kenton High school and Hardin Central school closed for today and tomorrow. Mt. Victory, Ridgeway, Dola, McGuffey and Alger were also closed but may open tomorrow if conditions warrant.

Prospect School Closed

In Marion county Prospect was the only school reported closed to the office of County Superintendent D. T. Mills.

The Marion county engineer's office reported that four truck-plows were out on county roads today to prevent drifting caused by the high winds.

The state highway department said highways had been salted and cindered over the weekend and today plows were concentrated against drifting. The city service department spread a large amount of salt on streets Saturday, Sunday and this morning.

The weatherman predicted continued snow, cold and wind tonight but not quite so cold tomorrow. The officially recorded high during the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. this morning was 29 degrees and low was 21. The temperature at noon today was 24. Saturday's snowfall was listed at 3.2 inches and Sunday at 0.8 inch.

Florida Hit

The Associated Press reported that sub-freezing weather played a return engagement in Florida and on the Gulf coast today as a storm of "marked intensity" added as much as eight inches of snow in New York and New England.

Snow ranging generally from two to six inches in depth fell yesterday in the east central states bringing the accumulation to as much as 15 inches in some parts of Michigan but temperatures in the area were around normal or slightly below. The snowfall at Chicago measured seven inches.

The Chicago weather bureau said temperatures skidded to readings well below normal in the deep south for the second time this winter following snow flur-

BUFFALO TEACHERS RETURN TO CLASSES

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 3—Vacation ended for Buffalo's 71,000 public school pupils today as their instructors returned to classrooms after staging the largest teacher strike in U. S. history.

The week-long walkout of 2,400 teachers was ended by the Buffalo teachers federation shortly before midnight last night when its council of delegates voted to accept a promise of Mayor Bernard J. Dowd that a pay increase would be forthcoming next fall if the state authorized additional taxes for the purpose.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is scheduled to submit a special message to the legislature this week requesting that localities be granted authority to impose special taxes, including a special levy for education.

Dewey will submit another message to the legislature tonight urging adoption of a permanent pay plan for teachers in the state recommended by his special committee on education.

Joseph R. Manch, first vice president of the Buffalo federation, announced that the teachers had accepted the mayor's pledge to provide $300 to $625 pay increases for the school year 1947-48.

The group originally had demanded an immediate $1,025 increase, $500 cost of living bonus and a $2,400 minimum for beginners.

Five Members Of Family Killed In Ohio Auto Crash

By The Associated Press

DEERFIELD, O., March 3—Five members of a New Castle, Pa., family were killed and a sixth injured early today when their car was crushed against a cement abutment by a truck a mile west of here.

The dead: Mathew Aber, 23; John Saesans, 36; Mrs. John Saesans, 38, his wife; Susan Joan Saesans, 5, their daughter, and Mrs. Marie Aber, 65, mother of Aber and Mrs. Saesans.

Judith Saesans, three-year-old daughter of the Saesans, received a fractured leg and was reported suffering from shock.

Highway patrolmen said their car sideswiped a truck going in the opposite direction and then was hit by another truck.

The second truck, driven by William G. Wornica of Akron, was following the other truck at an interval of about 75 feet, highway patrolmen said. Henry P. Iglehart of Akron, was identified as the driver of the first truck.

The three-year-old girl was the only member of the family to survive. Neither of the truck drivers was injured.

5 Masked Men Hold Up 30 At Inn Near Ada

KENTON, March 3—Five armed and masked men held 30-odd patrons at bay at the Forest Inn 13 miles west of here on Route 30-S today just after midnight and escaped in a car with $80 taken from the cash register.

One man was slightly wounded when the bandits opened fire when one of them was hit by a beer bottle thrown by a patron. The wounded man, Harold Rambo of Ada, was taken to Lima Memorial hospital where a wound in his side was not considered serious.

The men, who appeared to be youthful, fired an estimated 12 shots, shooting out the front windows of the tavern. Until they began shooting, patrons were not certain they were in earnest, Hardin County Sheriff R. R. Clark said.

Their car was reported to have passed through Ada, two miles north of the inn, a short time after the robbery.

TWO BOYS HELD ON AUTO THEFT CHARGE

Caught After Policeman Fires Warning Shot.

Two 15-year-old Marion boys were arrested Sunday at 11 a. m. on charges of auto larceny after they were stopped from escaping by a warning shot from a policeman.

The boys were spotted by police in a squad car while riding in a car allegedly stolen from Charles Eliker of Gurley avenue. The officers, recognizing the license plate number, gave chase and soon stopped the car near the east city limits on East Center street. The boys then jumped out and started to run, but a warning shot by Patrolman Fred Norton stopped them. He was accompanied by Patrolman Marion Tatham.

At the police station, the boys admitted taking the car Saturday and driving to Columbus and other cities, police said. They were just returning to Marion when arrested. When keys to another car which had been reported stolen were found in a pocket of one of the boys, they admitted stealing three other cars here during February, Police Captain E. C. Mackan said.

They are now in the county juvenile detention home and will be brought into juvenile court tomorrow morning on charges of auto larceny.

GROUP DIES ON WAY TO WALDO FOR REUNION

Train Hits One of Two Cars Occupied by Family; One Critically Injured.

Six members of a Michigan family group, one a prematurely born infant, were killed and another seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a northbound New York Central passenger train at the Route 42 crossing in Cardington Sunday about 1:20 p. m.

The dead, all of Clio, Mich., a town near Flint, were Mrs. Ethel Peterson, 36, Miss Bonnie Peterson, 19, daughter of Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. Wilma Pashby, 24, also a daughter of Mrs. Peterson and mother of the baby which died in the wreck; Lawrence Pashby, 25, brother-in-law of Mrs. Pashby and Miss Norene Coenen, 15, of Flint, Mich., a granddaughter of Mrs. Peterson who died in Marion City hospital of a fractured skull.

Injured was Donald Pashby, 22, husband of Mrs. Pashby, who was reported still in a critical condition in Marion City hospital today. His lower right leg was severed in the collision.

Home for Anniversary

The group was driving to Waldo to celebrate the sixty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cramer, parents of Mrs. Peterson, when the accident occurred. Riding in another car only a short distance behind the Peterson car were other members of the family, including Mrs. Peterson's husband, Daniel, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allen, also of Clio, Mich., the son-in-law and daughter of the Petersons. They learned of the accident when they arrived about 10 minutes later and saw a crowd at the crossing and the flashers still working.

The family group had spent Saturday night with Daniel Peterson's brother, David, near Mt. Gilead. They had gone to the Cramer home at Waldo Sunday morning and had returned to Mt. Gilead to visit David's maple sugar camp near there. They were enroute back to Waldo when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Peterson, came to Waldo last Thursday to help in preparing for the anniversary dinner, and at the last minute decided to accompany the group to show them the road, since the driver was not familiar with Ohio highways.

The family gathering to celebrate the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Cramer is a looked-forward-to event in the relationship and has been an annual affair since Mr. and Mrs. Cramer observed their golden wedding anniversary. The anniversary date is tomorrow, March 4.

Failed To See Flashers

A witness said the signal lights at the crossing were blinking but apparently Lawrence Pashby, driver of the car, a 1941 sedan, did not notice them as he steered the car onto the tracks directly in the path of the locomotive. Officials said the train was traveling approximately 70 miles an hour when it struck the car, shearing it in two and scattering portions of it along the tracks.

The infant was born to Mrs. Pashby at the time of the collision and was found with her beside the wreckage. Rev. William Sullivan of St. Joseph's Academy, Columbus, was aboard the train and administered last rites to the wreck victims. The bodies of three other victims were thrown down a 20-foot embankment and were found lying in a ditch partially filled with water.

The automobile was hit midway between the front and rear seat. The motor, the front axle and one of the wheels were thrown 200 feet down the tracks.

The bodies of all the dead with the exception of Miss Coenen, were taken to the Curl Mortuary in Cardington where funeral arrangements are being made.

Body of Miss Coenen, who died at Marion City hospital about 8 p. m. last night, was at the Hughes Mortuary here.

Engineer from Cleveland

George Priester of Cleveland was engineer of the train, a New York Central passenger train No. 426, bound from Columbus to Cleveland. He also was engineer on a locomotive which struck and killed Lowell E. Gregory, 21, of Edison, O., at a grade crossing south of Galion Feb. 20, according to the state highway patrol. Conductor of the train was James Tighe, also of Cleveland.

Highway patrolmen from the Marion substation arrived at the scene a few minutes after the collision. One patrolmen was sent from Marion and the other from near Waldo where he was on road patrol. Traffic was not held up the patrol reported, and the road

SCHOOL BILL HEARING END SEEN THIS WEEK

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 3—The state senate education committee is expected to complete this week its consideration of the Daniels-Cramer school bill. It is considered the key measure among all the taxation and appropriation proposals.

On the amount of money alloted for the schools in that measure will depend upon the amount that other governmental departments including local subdivisions will recive. It appears probable that the committee will send the bill to the floor of the senate for a vote without material change.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert says the measure will require $100,000,000 a year to finance in comparison to the $59,000,000 a year now alloted to the schools. He also has indicated that unless the school allotment is cut materially from the amount allocated by the bill, very little or no increased allotments can be made to other governmental functions.

The house judiciary committee is expected to send to the floor a bill to limit portal-to-portal claims against employers to one year. The time limit now is two years.

Neither the school bill in the senate nor the portal bill in the house is expected to be voted on this week.

The senate tonight is scheduled to vote on a constitutional proposal that would give the legislature authority to designate a way to fill vacancies in both the senate and house by other methods than holding special elections.

Because of the expense of holding such special elections, vacancies in the legislature never are filled and many counties, because of death or resignation of members sometimes find themselves without any say in the making of state laws.

Today's Text: "What is that to thee? Follow thou Me." John 21:22.

* * *

IN THE realm of Christian service we make many excuses. One of the most common is comparison. We compare ourselves with another person. Usually it is to their discredit and our credit. The Pharisee in the Temple compared himself with the publican. "Or even as this publican." But Christ is the standard. "Follow thou Me!" How do we look when we compare ourselves with Him, "Who knew no sin"? Dare we compare ourselves and our service with Him?

"Lord, when I am weary with toiling,
And burdensome seem Thy commands,
If my load should lead to complaining,
Lord, show me Thy Hands—
Thy nail pierced Hands, Thy cross-torn Hands.

"Christ, if ever my footsteps should falter,
And I be prepared for retreat,
If desert or thorn cause lamenting,
Lord show me Thy Feet—
Thy bleeding Feet, Thy nail-scarred Feet,
My Jesus, show me Thy Feet.

"Oh God, dare I show Thee
MY hands and MY feet?"

The Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Small Marble Boxes

Because of the pressure for space large families often have a chamber with twelve small marble boxes at one corner of the plot into which the remains of the elder dead are stored in time.

"In another section" said Gonsalez, "people pay $60 to rent a cement tomb above ground in which they lie for three years.

"In the third section poor people pay $9 and are buried in the ground for three years. Paupers who died in government hospitals are buried free."

At the end of three years survivors are notified by newspaper advertisements that unless other provisions are made the bones will be disinterred and put in a common pit. Usually there is no response to the ads, the cheap wooden crosses are taken down—and the earth is ready once more.

Job Lasts 20 Years

Old Gonsalez gets from $1 to $2 a month from many families to care for their tombs. He has done this for twenty years.

"Now I polish the brass on the graves of many men who used to pay me themselves," he said "and whenever one of my friends dies I take care of him too."

He has a craftman's pride in his work and isn't at all depressed by his odd occupation.

"It is a living," he said. "I would sleep here if they would let me. Maybe they will soon. I am 68 years old.

"This is a big city—the biggest in Cuba. There are about 1,000,000 people here. It is very crowded. It supports about 700 people outside—funeral directors, coachmen and flower sellers."

Gonsalez has no illusions as to how long the dead are remembered, and said that after the first year survivors usually came to the cemetery only on anniversaries.

But he pointed over to a tomb where a black-clad woman of early middle age was placing flowers.

"Not many are like that one," he said. "Her husband died ten years ago. Ever since she has come with fresh flowers to visit him."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Shoulder Pains

Pain in the shoulder can be due to so many different causes, that the physician is faced with a real problem in detection when a patient complains of this symptom.

Certain disorders may arise following strain over-activity or repeated minor injuries. Then, too, infections in the teeth, tonsils sinuses or elsewhere on the body as well as such disorders as gout, may cause shoulder pain.

Aside from all this the physician must consider the possibility of referred pain in the shoulder, that is, pain due to pressure elsewhere and particularly in the upper part of the spine. Here there are crowded together so many nerves, muscles and bony structures that if any one of them gets the least bit out of alignment, undue pressure is exerted with painful results.

One of the conditions of the spine which may be responsible for pain in the shoulder is known as osteo-arthritis of the spine. In this condition there is an overgrowth of the bony tissues which may cause pressure on the nerves as they come from the spine. In such instances there are stiffness and pain on movement of the neck, while the shoulder itself appears to be normal. Of course, if an X-ray is taken of the shoulder and of the upper part of the spine, the abnormal condition in the spine will be revealed.

The treatment consists of rest, support and in some cases what is known as traction, that is, stretching of the upper part of the spine. If these methods do not relieve the pain some type of operative treatment may be required.

According to Dr. Earl D. McBride of Oklahoma, one of the more common causes for pain in the shoulder and arms is what is known as herniated intervertebral disc. The disc refers to a piece of cartilage which is located between the small bones of the spine.

The symptoms consist of spasm of the neck muscles, together with pain in the shoulder. Coughing or sneezing may bring on an attack of the shoulder pain. If the herniated disc is in a certain location, there may be numbness of the thumb and index finger. It is usually possible to make a definite diagnosis with an X-ray of the spine. Rest in bed and traction as mentioned above may serve to bring relief. If it does not, surgical removal of the disc is necessary.

Of course, pain in the shoulder may also be due to inflammation of the joint itself, to bursitis which is the inflammation of a sac containing fluid located near the joint, as well as a number of other conditions. Careful investigation by an orthopedic specialist is advisable when shoulder pains develop.

DEMAND FOR STEEL SHOWS NO SLACK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 3—Demand for steel shows no sign of slackening, while "acute freight car shortages and bad weather hamper mills' attempts to catch up on their orders, it was stated today by the magazine Steel.

Because of car shortages and traffic snarls due to heavy snowfall, plus shortages of industrial gas in some sections, "few companies are able to ship tonnage promptly, and meanwhile orders continue to pour in on the mills with demand showing no signs of a let-up' said the trade journal.

Steel producers have increased their allocations for production of freight cars "at the expense of other consumers," said Steel. "A surge of freight car buying features current market developments. At least 15,400 units were placed in February, largest since December, 1944."

The national steel making rate, "reflecting raw material shipment interruptions and gas shortages," declined two per cent last week to 92.5 per cent of rated capacity.

Red Cross Work Stresses Swimming And Life Saving

The national program of Red Cross water safety tells a story of how the children and adults of America were taught the rudiments of water safety, swimming, and life saving, of a peacetime program of water safety for the armed forces that developed as a result of the successful wartime training in combat swimming, and of national aquatic schools conducted in the Philippine Island and Hawaii, as well as the United States.

The Red Cross convalescent swimming program helped recondition veterans in Veterans Administration hospitals, helped in the rehabilitation of disabled and crippled children.

These free swimming and life saving classes constitute one of the most widely known services of the Marion county chapter inasmuch as Marion has poor facilities for indoor swimming, the activities for this service are confined mostly during the summer at Crystal Lake park.

Certified Red Cross life savers are ready to be of service at summer camps held in the neighborhood of Marion. Funds from the chapter treasury are used annually to send a representative to the Red Cross aquatic school to learn the latest methods of bringing back the knowledge gained for use in Marion. Last year Miss Helen Beal was the representative from this chapter to the aquatic school held at Camp Y-Noah, Akron, O., June 12-21. Upon her return she assisted with junior and senior life saving classes at Crystal Lake from June 24 to July 5. This was preliminary to the water safety school which was held from July 22 to Aug. 9 at Crystal Lake. Ninety-three persons were enrolled in the swimming classes and 18 in the life saving classes.

The water safety chairman, T. E. Brownlee, was assisted with these classes by Miss Beal, Miss Patricia Wiant, Miss Helen Rhu, Miss Jane Watters, and a number of senior and junior life savers. Certificates of completion of the classes were issued to 19 beginners, 7 intermediates, 5 swimmers, 13 junior life savers, and 6 senior life savers

These annual swimming and life saving classes at Crystal Lake have grown into one of the most enthusiastically supported public projects of the local chapter. Any man, woman or child may receive free instruction in learning to swim, all advanced swimming life saving.

In Loving Memory
★Of our wife and mother, Susan Ulrich, who passed away five years ago today, March 3, 1942.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
A beautiful memory she left behind.
She had a nature you could not help loving,
A heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew her and loved her,
Her memory will never grow cold.

MARCH 1947

You Can't Win

HERBERT HOOVER has told the United States it accomplished exactly what it wanted to accomplish during World War II.

Germany was crushed.

Almost 6,000,000 Germans were killed or maimed, among them the finest specimens of German manhood.

Half again as many Germans are held by the Soviet Union as "prisoners of war," which is euphemism for slave labor. A million more are still held prisoner in France, Britain and Belgium, to make sure they remember who won the war.

A fourth of all German housing is destroyed, and much of the rest is scarred by bombs and guns. Industrial production is paralyzed. Transportation is hopeless. The morale of the people is at zero, and Mr. Hoover suggests their morals aren't much better.

Germany's monetary wealth is gone. The country has been looted ruthlessly. Families are separated, populations dislocated. For millions of Germans there is nothing to live for; they have lost all hope and all purpose. They are fumbling in the rubble of their ruined country for scraps of food and fuel. The Germans are cold, hungry and desperate. The young are marked by malnutrition. The old are dying before their time.

The Allies licked Germany within a quarter of an inch of her life.

Mr. Hoover suggests by implication that the decision to be made now is whether or not to finish the job. It wouldn't be hard...merely tighten the screws of military occupation, turn loose troops with orders to loot and terrorize, withhold food and medicine.

The Allies could take a leaf from the German's technique of military occupation; they could start a program of mass slaughter on the pretext of security. They could help disease and starvation devour the substance of the reich. They could speed the grim horsemen of the apocalypse on their way with firing squads and gas chambers.

The threat of German resurgence and the threat of a third world war begun by German imperialists could be removed forever. It wouldn't be difficult at this juncture to dispose permanently of the only habitual war criminal in the family of nations.

World War II was fought to accomplish this. It almost succeeded. It wouldn't take much more, in the opinion of Mr. Hoover.

IF GERMANY had won the war and a Hitler government were making this decision, instead of the Allies, there couldn't be much doubt about what it would do. It would do what it did while the war was in progress; it would try to establish its supremacy once and for all by systematic starvation and terror.

But the United States cannot do this. Great Britain cannot do it. No one can be sure about Russia, because Russia does not reflect the will of its people, only the will of its masters. Americans cannot behave en masse like Adolf Hitler.

"Our flag flies over these people," muses Herbert Hoover in his official report to the White House on Germany. "That flag means something besides military power."

It means mercy and refuge from oppression, forgiveness and Christian charity. It means generosity, sharing and sacrifice. It means brotherly love, hard to believe in when despots are slashing one another's throats for the privilege of enslaving human beings.

But Americans take brotherly love seriously. They believe in forgiveness and charity, virtues which have marked them as weak and decadent, in the opinion of "strong" nations like Germany. Americans have been held up to ridicule for practicing Christianity, and sometimes they have been played for suckers.

Mr. Hoover estimates that to save Germany—and to save western civilization from the death march of oriental despotism westward into Europe, though he diplomatically does not say that—the United States will have to pay $475,000,000 for relief for German civilians in the next 18 months. That would be, of course, only the beginning. Germany will not be made safe from the threat of nihilism in 18 months.

The initial outlay, Mr. Hoover suggests, could be recaptured by a prior claim on German manufacturers, if and when industrial production can be restored. But Americans now are too seasoned in the game of unsecured investments to have any illusions about getting their money back. The money would be gone forever—a few more billions added to the United States debt, most of which represents the attempt since 1914 to buy protection for the American way of life.

The United States helped to lick Germany. It was a great victory.

But you can't win a war in a world whose parts depend on one another.

Mr. Hoover explains this: "It may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for those people. Indeed it is something new in human history for the conqueror to undertake.

"Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace; if we want to preserve the safety and health of our army of occupation; if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order; if we want to reduce the size and expense of our army of occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have outlined.

"Our determination is to establish such a regime in Germany as will forever prevent the rise of militarism and aggression within these people. But those who believe in vengeance and the punishment of a great mass of Germans not concerned in the Nazi conspiracy can now have no misgivings, for all of them—in food, warmth and shelter—have been sunk to the lowest level known in a hundred years of western history. If western civilization is to survive in Europe, it must also survive in Germany."

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Labor Department Fans Fear of Food Rise

WASHINGTON, March 3—The labor department has been evidently fanning the fears of another food price inflation. A United Press dispatch said: "A labor department spokesman predicted the cost of living will climb to a new price record peak by the end of June. The department reported that on Jan. 15 retail food prices were 30 per cent higher than on the corresponding date a year ago." On the basis of this supposedly official, although anonymous, interpretation of the Chicago increases in hog, corn and wheat market figures, a break occurred in the New York stock market. Naturally the Wall Street traders whetted their fears that food price increases would cause another round of wage increase in coal, steel, autos and the other spring contracts awaiting renewal, and thus break our economy up into a still higher inflationary level, if not break the accepted economic program entirely.

The actual facts of the matter do not justify all these fears. Indeed they fall so far short of justification you might hastily conclude offhand that the unions and the labor department must be throwing their pressure weight behind the food price increases, so they can collect another wage increase. This may sound foolish to some, and possibly it is not true, yet you can find some evidence in the government itself to substantiate such a suspicion. The government has been warning the farmers against over-production, which certainly had lent encouragement to food production deficiencies. Actually it has advised against accelerated production of beef cattle, although the figures upon which it bases such advice seem to be wrong, inasmuch as they do not calculate the increased population and increased demand likely in a period of widespread availability of money, such as we are in now. Worse than that, the government actually has created the shortages in wheat by its export program, and expects to continue to do so.

Capitalize on Situation

Despite this evidence I do not accuse the government of fostering the food price increases to encourage the wage demands of its strongest following. The truth of the matter seems to be they are merely taking advantage of an abnormal and temporary situation in foods in order to further the union demand.

The actual food situation is this:

Farmers require about a year and a half to develop a new pig crop. Only about six months have elapsed since OPA went off, ending the confused condition of the farmers, which induced them to avoid full hog production. The crop of last spring has just about all been sold, and the fall crop (started after OPA) has not come in yet. So we are at an in-between period on hog production. Furthermore, deliveries at markets have been abnormally low because of snow and wintry weather (much of the deliveries these days being by truck.) Actually we had a good corn crop last year. The hog crop is low but yet undeveloped. And we cannot know anything about the coming season's production until fall, so we must conclude that if the farmers go ahead normally they will produce enough hogs to keep us away from further inflation.

If pork chops go to $1 or $1.25 a pound in this interim period, the cost of living need not increase for most people, except in the government statistics. Personally I will just not buy pork. We have enough beef (the government foolishly claims the supply is too high,) so I will eat beef. If high pork prices throw meat demand over into beef, the government certainly will realize how foolish its recent warnings on beef supplies have been.

Wheat Situation

Wheat is a somewhat different story, but to the same effect. Last year we had 100 million bushels carry over at the end of the crop year, and ths year the milling people are alarmed because officialdom expects 125 million bushels (millers figuring that if the government is wrong again, we will be skating too near thin ice.) But our government itself will largely influence our wheat supply by the extent to which it exports in answer to foreign demand. England is buying here, with the money we gave her—pardon me, "loaned" her. Russia is not buying, and so far as I know, has not attempted to influence our markets since one incident was detected on the stock commodities market sometime back.

But in general, hog supplies are low, having not yet caught up. Beef is plentiful. The corn supply is nearing the end. The wheat supply is all right. Florida citrus fruits were hurt badly by cold. Actually then, you cannot get much support for the anonymous labor department spokesman, or the viewers with alarm, unless you expect a crop failure before it is even planted.

Perhaps government statistics have increased 30 per cent on food prices "since a corresponding period last year." Last year, the government statistics were warped by price ceilings on foods not available at any price. Now they cannot fool themselves but must take actual market prices. Yet if they encourage another round of wage increases on that basis, prices will go still higher, and everyone will be worse off.

Thus the realities of the situation fall somewhat short of justifying the conclusions and predictions which the propagandists are foisting off on an unsuspecting public.

This Strike Is a Walk Up, Not Out

Members of an electrical union have been picketing manholes in New York.

For some time there have been rumblings beneath Manhattan streets. But one had thought it of subways rather than of discontent.

Now, however, the lid is off.... the workers won't go down until wages come up.

Even above ground, electrician strikes are serious things, what with nobody making connections. But in this instance, cautious citizens will be well-advised to watch their step. A fellow could get a broken leg crossing that picket line.

While it's on the matter of labor legislation, congress might as well go ahead and outlaw manhole-to-manhole pay.

And only yesterday one had thought Palestine the only nation worried with the problem of an organized underground.

Shoes Guarded in Germany

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—Berliners, distrustful of neighborhood service shops, have started having only one of their shoes soled at a time.

They have found if they leave only one shoe in the repair shop they are more likely to get it back.

Lower German courts have been flooded with damage suits against shoemakers, tailors and laundries by customers who left shoes, watches, wearing apparel and linen for repairs or cleaning, only to find that the items were "lost."

Testimony indicated that the items found their way into the black market where heavy prices are paid for scarce consumer goods articles newly repaired, while trademen showed a "willingness" to refund the original purchase price.

Complainants, however, are not satisfied with such a settlement because they are unable to replace their belongings at that price.

The lost and found department of the Berlin police reports that around two hundred persons come daily looking for lost goods, most of them fruitlessly.

One item, frequently lost but never turned over to the lost and found department, is a food ration card.

A surprise to the police the other day was the return of a purse with 18,000 marks. The finder: a minister.

Newspaperman and Commissar

By STEWART ALSOP

SALONIKA, March 3 — What threatens to begin here in Greece is a sort of political chain reaction. This underlying, all-important meaning of the Greek situation was best summed up by a wise French diplomat, who recently reviewed the problem for an American inquirer. If Greece went Communist, he said with perfect seriousness, there was not the slightest doubt that Italy would shortly be sucked into the expanded sphere of Soviet influence. And if that happened, he added, "France could not long withstand the pressure."

The Frenchman was talking as a diplomat, and above all, as a Frenchman. American military experts see things in a slightly different light. If Greece falls to the Soviets, they will tell you, Turkey will be flanked, Crete, the stopper in the Aegean bottle, will be pulled, and the Russians will be well on the way to achieving their ambitions in the Middle East. England will lose her position in the Mediterranean and the whole world power balance will be overturned.

It is against the background of such expert opinion that the maneuverings of the bold advances and the hasty retreats now going on in the United Nations Balkan commission here are interesting. The great political contest which is now everywhere being waged between Russia and the West is being fought out again on this small stage.

Editor and Adversary

The main protagonists are, significantly, the American and the Russian. The chief American delegate is Mark F. Ethridge, editor of the Louisville-Courier-Journal, a lifelong liberal and an astute, genial and exceedingly able man. He has no mean antagonist. The Russian representative is A. A. Lavrichef, who looks like a highly intellectual brown bear; bear-like, he even paws the ground and raises and lowers his head before proceeding to the attack. Lavrichef organized the People's Front in Bulgaria, ordering the purge of more than a hundred political leaders, of whom a tiny portion were Fascists or collaborators, to gain that end. A sad and witty man with an odd personal charm, he and Ethridge are personally on excellent terms.

The other persons in the drama play lesser parts. There is the British delegate, R. T. Windle, a ruddy-faced trade unionist, who stolidly backs Ethridge but leaves him to carry the brunt of the contest. There is the Frenchman, Georges Daux, a Paris professor, who occasionally has the air of regretting his cloistered halls, and Dr. Wunz King, the Chinese delegate, who speaks slangy American and is a confirmed lover of compromise.

There are the Bulgarian, Albanian and Yugoslav liaison officers (the latter especially seems sometimes to embarrass Lavrichef by his new convert's fervor), and there is the Greek officer who must defend his country's position against these three. But the real struggle is between the Kentucky newspaperman and the Russian careerist. As is inevitable when the ends so conflict, the struggle sometimes grows bitter. It is an occasionally nerve-wracking education in the new outspoken diplomacy to witness the proceedings of the UN Balkan commission.

Seek Stabilization

It is the objective of the Americans, backed sometimes by eight and sometimes by nine of the 11-man commission, to find some means of stabilizing the northern Greek frontier. To that end, Ethridge firmly insisted, sometimes very bluntly, on the removal of the commission from Athens, where nothing but bitter speech-making was in progress to the north where there is some hope of getting something done. He has finally succeeded, and as this is written, the commission is grumblingly settling down in the sleazy hotels which are the best Salonika has to offer.

It is probable that Ethridge will press on to his final objective, a border commission which would seal off the northern Greek border and thus isolate the Communist - dominated guerrillas. Greece might thus be given, at least, a change of finding her way out of her present political misery. Yet, the Americans and their supporters are fully conscious that with the guerrillas daily gaining strength while the Greek economy totters, time is of the essence.

The Russians and their puppets are eagerly conscious of this fact. Indeed, the Yugoslav representative, needled by a Greek reporter, recently said as much. The Soviet group has been stalling for time, with the determination of a southern senator threatened with the abolition of the poll tax. The Bulgarians and the Albanians have said their pieces at length and the Yugoslav threatened to filibuster indefinitely before Ethridge's grim protest halted him after three hoarse days.

This filibustering of the Soviet group has had its comic aspects. But the purpose has been wholly serious. The Russians are convinced that time is on their side, and that every hour of delay plays into their hands.

The Once Over

Von Papen's Goose Gets Cooked

It looks as if justice had at last caught with Franz Von Papen, the Oilcan That Was Like a Man.

• • •

His own people have tossed him into a hoosegow for eight years, confiscated his property, stripped him of civil rights and ordered that for fifteen years after he gets out he may work only as a day laborer.

• • •

Not only that but the court excluded him from all political or civic activities for life and billed him for the cost of the trial. This looks like an answer at last to the question whether a greaseball can be degreased.

• • •

Von Papen was the world's Number One pussyfooter, gumshoe boy, smoothy and sly around fox.

• • •

He minced across the world's stage through two world wars slick, debonnair and smiling as he hit below the belt, played cards under the table, slipped gimmicks into the international slot machines and double crossed anybody while completely protected by full anti-doublecross equipment.

• • •

He was a traveling refutation of the saw that a snake has no hips.

• • •

He was doing his dirty work in America in the first World War and he was following the old line all through the second. He was Herr Polecat any way you looked at him, and Von Stinkeroo in spades at any distance.

• • •

He was a Prince of Skullduggery and a Baron of Dirty Work. His escutcheon showed a cluster of wet planks against a field of decomposed toadstools.

• • •

It is hard to tell what any diplomat is doing at times, but you always knew that what Franz was doing was strictly rodent.

• • •

He was Brother Rat in technicolor. He was so slippery he even escaped punishment in the famous German War trials on the ground that Political crimes are not criminal offenses. The judges must have felt that the trial needed one amusing note.

• • •

Austria may try him next. It seems that Superskunk wasn't on the level with anybody, even the groups he pretended to serve. And he looks definitely finished, but we wouldn't be too sure. We want an official diagnosis that the wriggle has been removed. Supplemented by an expert opinion that he can be held permanently between two rubber gloves.

HARRY THAW'S death reminded us of a day at Hialeah some seasons back when we observed him at the track. He was sitting quietly in a chair. He wasn't reading a racing chart. He didn't study the racing program. We did not see him take or offer a tip. Furthermore he didn't have a Green Sheet. We formed the definite conclusion everybody else was crazy.

There seems to be a lot of uncertainty over the location of the Irish town of Glocca Mora, famous in the song, "How Are Things in Glocca Mora?" Kate Smith's radio program has even wired DeValera to find out. Well, Jim Shane calls our attention to the fact that on page 17 of "The Crock of Gold," the famous James Stephen classic, are the lines: "It so happens that the leechauns of Gort Na Gloca Mora. Which may or may not offer a clue to the town as well as to interest those who claim "Finian's Rainbow" resembles the Stephen story.

One big Broadway movie theater has reduced its admission prices, noting a drop in attendance especially at the shows which used to draw the bobbysoxers in great numbers. It is our deduction that millions of kiddies must have decided that they have completed their crime education.

Hits the Spotsky

By TRUMAN TWILL

We have been having a run of fruity communications from readers—stuff that spurs us on—stocking seams, the sloppiness of men and now, some observations about the radio programs our great government is beaming toward Russia.

"Eternal prosperity would accrue to the United States," concludes a playful correspondent signing himself H. Wallace Pepper. "If we could crack the Russian market for electric shavers, injector razors, straight razors, shaving soap and brushless shaving cream."

This is an angle we'd overlooked. It's as plain as the gleam in a Russian comrade's eye that this Russian radio broadcast thing is an example of Yankee dollar diplomacy. It isn't good will as ingenious Yankees are interested in selling, but merchandise.

If we can get the Russians to come our way on razors, shaving soap, toothpaste, cheese, patent medicine, gelatin desserts and so on diplomatic relations will take care of themselves. "Pipsi-Coolsky Hits the Spotsky" get 'em singing our radio commercials and we'll understand each other better.

"Sell 'em after-shave lotions" suggests our correspondent. "The kinds that tingle, refresh your skin, heal the wounds, staunch the blood, stimulate the blood, make your skin lighter if it's too dark, make your skin darker if it's too light, put new life into your skin, make you look like Clark Gable and smell like Chanel No. 5."

He continues:

"Can't you just hear the wheels beginning to hum from Weehawken to Peoria—and beyond? Anyone who thought the State Department was behind this thing is wetter than a Kremlin banquet. The whole idea obviously sprang from the whiskers trust.

"Can't you hear Mrs. Molotov saying 'Vyacheslav, darling, what is that wonderful new discovery you have just made? Your face is so soft and pinsk and no more 5 o'clock shadow'?

"Or Mrs. Gromyko: 'Andrei! I love to touch your face since you've been using the new B.Y.G.F.O. (Bowl Your Girl Friend Over) after shave lotion.'?

"And we can introduce a new wrinkle—singing commercials by Shostakovich himself. But the State Department should warn American tourists not to rush to the Soviet Union immediately, to get comradely with the newly-shaved, sweet-smelling Russians. There's something fishy about the smelt of their caviar this year. The sturgeon, according to rumor, has laid an egg."

Sometimes we wonder what we'd do without our correspondents—T. Manvill Twill, the tireless tomcat, Uncle George, and now, H. Wallace Pepper, our expert on rushing the Russians.

Town's Reign of Terror Brings Emergency State

By The Associated Press

NORRISTOWN, Pa., March 3—Policemen were on a 24-hour call today in this eastern Pennsylvania community as authorities declared a state of emergency to end a six-week reign of terror against young girls and women.

Chief of Police Robert Reilly cancelled all police leaves and ordered his 32-man force to work 12-hour shifts following the brutal beating of a 24-year-old woman Saturday night—the second in less than a day.

The latest victim, Mrs. Ruth Marnoski, was bludgeoned with a club or pipe and dragged along the pavement by the feet before her screams frightened off her assailant.

Most of the attacks, including the beating of a 13year-old girl, have occurred at night.

Senator Asks Marshall To Tell Greek Facts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 3—Senator Tobey (R-NH) proposed today that Secretary of State Marshall tell congress behind bolted doors exactly how the situation stands in the troubled Mediterranean and the Near East before the lawmakers are called upon to vote for bigger cash outlays abroad.

Tobey, who heads the senate banking committee charged with passing on foreign loans, told a reporter he thinks the crisis presented by possible withdrawal of British military and economic aid to Greece can be "met only by an informed congress."

Marshall and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes are listed to testify before the senate foreign relations committee tomorrow on four Balkan peace treaties which represent what President Truman said were the best terms that could be obtained in bargaining with this country's wartime allies, including Russia.

Belgium was the diamond cutting center of the world before World War II, but many of the diamond experts came to the United States during the war.

CHICAGO EXPLOSION WRECKAGE. Three persons were killed and many injured when an explosion completely demolished a building at the southwest corner of Chicago's downtown "loop" district. Above is an overhead view of the explosion site. The blast, which occurred at noon on Sunday, was believed to have been caused by igniting gas. The force of the explosion obliterated a restaurant and several stores. It threw pieces of concrete side-walk onto the elevated tracks (bottom); flattened store-fronts across the street and broke windows in a six-block area and as high as the 19th floor of an office building 50 feet away. Entire Faculty Of Ohio School Quits In Tiff with Pupils

By The Associated Press

LORAIN, O., March 3—The entire faculty of neighboring Clearview schools resigned today in the midst of a dispute with certain members of the student body.

Resignations were submitted by Superintendent T. C. Simpson at an assembly program designed to straighten out complaints by a number of students against what they considered excessively harsh discipline.

Simpson was addressing the pupils amidst loud hooting and boos when suddenly he stopped and walked over to Chandler Thomson, president of Clearview school board.

"The teachers can't take any more," said Simpson. "We're resigning in a body."

About 26 persons teach 375 students in elementary and high school at Clearview.

The dispute started last Thursday after all high school pupils walked out of classes, protesting what they termed unfair disciplining of one of their classmates by school Principal Allen Mizer.

Twelve demands were listed by the protesting pupils which they said they "wanted done around the school." Then yesterday the school board met with the parents and decided all would return to class today.

Thompson said the board went into session immediately after the teachers resigned.

DRAFT

report in two or three months and Mr. Truman has said he will send congress detailed recommendations then for a training law.

"Only Assured Method"

In today's message, Mr. Truman told congress that "the only assured way" of keeping the armed forces at the necessary strength for the fiscal year 1948, which ends June 30, 1948, is through selective service. Then he added:

"I have decided, however, after most careful consideration and consultation with the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy, and with the earnest desire of placing our army and navy on an entirely volunteer basis at the earliest possible moment, that I should not recommend an extension of the act at this time."

Mr. Truman went on to say that the army estimates that it can count with fair certainty on an average of 20,000 enlistments and re-enlistments a month, in the coming fiscal year.

If no more than this number is obtained, the army will fall 120,000 short of its authorized strength by July 1, 1948, but Mr. Truman added: "however, there is a reasonable expectation that better results may be obtained."

Losses Estimated

Losses from the army will be about 30,000 a month through fiscal 1948, the President said, and the army intends to cut its strength to 1,070,000 by June 30, 1947. Its present strength is about 1,200,000.

"In effecting this reduction, it will shortly direct the discharged of all non-volunteers," the President announced.

The navy also is cutting its strength, but estimates that to maintain itself at an average strength of 571,000 through fiscal 1948 it will require about 150,000 recruits.

Actually, the draft has been suspended since last October. However, military men think that the fact of the law's existence has stimulated volunteering.

Referring to this, Mr. Truman said that "without the incentive of selective service, it is not certain" that the required number of recruits can be obtained.

But he said "this appears to be the logical time to shoulder the risks involved."

Mr. Truman said nothing about keeping the thousands of local draft boards alive pending a possible request for selective service revival.

3 KILLED, 30 HURT IN CHICAGO BLAST

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 3—A third body was recovered today from the debris of an explosion that leveled a three-story brick building in the loop yesterday and would have taken a huge toll had it occurred on a business day. More than 30 persons were injured.

The body, that of a man, was taken to the morgue where efforts to identify it were to be made. One person had been missing and firemen believed the body might be his.

He was Louis Pappas, who operated a restaurant on the ground floor of the building at Wells and Van Buren streets. Police said his wife told them he had gone to the building about two hours before the explosion.

The other dead are Mr. and Mrs.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Koons, Fort Wayne, Ind., who were blown from the street to the elevated structure of the Chicago Rapid Transit tracks. Koons, a taxidermist, and his wife had arrived in Chicago only about an hour before the blast.

Three of the injured were in critical condition.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said he would begin an investigation into the cause of the blast today.

Ray Crane, chief of uniformed police, said "potential loss" of property, including exposed merchandise in nearby buildings, might total $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. Window damage alone was estimated as high as $250,000.

BRITAIN LIFTS LAST ELECTRIC POWER BAN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 3—Britain lifted the last phase of her ban on electricity-powered factory production today and hundreds of thousands of workers returned to their jobs after three weeks of idleness.

But even on the first day of "normalcy" over-strained generating plants stalled production in some key areas, imposing a 45-minute "load shedding" that cut power by 15 per cent in southwest England, 10 per cent in the southeast and central parts of the island and five per cent in the mideast.

While most of the blacked-out factories were re-opened, government leaders warned that coal reserves were still desperately low. Compulsory daily five-hour electricity cuts in homes and offices remained in effect and the street lighting black-out will be maintained.

Official quarters awaited detailed reports before estimating the cost of the economic breakdown, but some business circles said the loss in production, as a result of the widespread industrial shutdowns, would run over $500,000,000. Nearly 3,000,000 workers were unemployed during the crisis, according to government estimates.

Congressman From 17 District Queries Citizens on Views

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 3—Following a plan he started several years ago, Rep. J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette Republican, is sending a questionnaire to representative citizens of his 17th district, which includes Delaware and Richland counties, asking their views on major questions.

There are ten of them:

1. Do you think it is necessary for the United States to lend money to foreign nations in order to bring about world recovery?

2. Should all reciprocal trade agreements be submitted to congress for approval?

3. Do you favor raising our entrance quotas for immigrants from Europe.

4. Do you believe that we have sufficient federal laws to safeguard the rights of labor and managements?

5 Do you favor a federal law prohibiting "closed shops?"

6. Do you favor a federal law prohibiting mass picketing?

7. Do you feel that the federal government should participate in and give financial aid to local communities through a federal works program? (That is, granting federal money for planning and construction of schools, hospitals, sanitation, etc.)

8. Do you favor a tax reduction of $4,000,000,000 or $6,000,000,000, even if it means no federal aid projects in your communities?

9. Do you favor one year of federal compulsory peacetime military training?

10. Do you favor abolition of all federal recent controls?

HERBERT MUM ON DEMAND FOR COFALL'S DISMISSAL

Declines Comment on Suggestion He Fire Liquor Head.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 3—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had "no comment" today on an editorial suggestion in several Ohio metropolitan Sunday newspapers that he dismiss State Liquor Director Stanley B Cotall and Liquor Department Enforcement Chief William J. Kelch.

The governor differed with the editorial writer, however, in interpreting Cofall's testimony Thursday before the senate liquor investigating committee. The editorial said Cofall advocated "dropping all responsibility for the enforcement of the anti-gambling regulations of the state liquor board and shifting it over to local police."

"I do not construe Cofall's position to mean the department should disregard gambling," the governor said. "Our job is to suppress permits where gambling is tolerated—we are not to enforce the gambling laws.

"We are to enforce the operation of liquor permits without gambling, and it is the local enforcement officers' function to prosecute for gambling while the department cites for revocation or suspension of permits."

MAN HELD IN DEATH OF OHIO GIRL, 17

By The Associated Press

BATAVIA, O., March 3 — Raymond Fryman, 23, was charged today with murder and attempt to rape in the death of 17-year-old Dorothy Boone, whose body was found early yesterday in a parked automobile near her home at Chilo, southern Clermont county village.

John Ginn, mayor at neighboring New Richmond, said the warrant, containing both charges, was obtained from him by the girl's mother, Mrs. Elmer Boone.

Fryman is in Clermont county jail where he had been held without charge after the Boone girl's fully-clothed body was discovered by her mother.

Sheriff Clyde Dericks said Fryman and his brother, Thomas, 20, who lived at Felicity, were asleep in the automobile when the discovery was made. There is no charge against the younger brother.

Contents of the girl's stomach were sent to Cincinnati for analysis, the sheriff said, when an inquest failed to disclose the cause of her death.

Dericks would advance no theory as to how the girl died and said the Fryman brothers "would not talk much" when questioned yesterday.

Six Die in Cardington Crash

was detained for only a few minutes.

The route 42 crossing is located just west of the center of Cardington. A park, containing a few trees, surrounds the crossing but there are no buildings within approximately 120 yards. The depot is about 200 yards from the crossing.

Believed to be the only witness to the accident is Orb Meeker of Cardington, a pedestrian, who told highway patrolmen the automobile was not traveling fast. Meeker said he heard the whistle of the train before it reached the crossing, but apparently the driver of the car did not hear it because he drove directly onto the tracks without stopping.

The bodies of the victims were identified by passengers of the car following before they were placed in the Curl ambulance, and after they had been viewed by Dr. Frank Sweeny, Morrow county coroner. His official verdict had not yet been given today.

Two Brought Here

Miss Coehen and Donald Pashby were brought to Marion City hospital in the Curl ambulance. The bodies of Lawrence Pashby, Mrs Peterson, Bonnie Peterson and Mrs. Wilma Pasnby were taken to the Curl funeral home in Cardington where arrangements were being made.

Employes of the Curl funeral home who removed the bodies said the body of the infant, a five-month-old girl, was severed and the body of its mother was badly mutilated.

The condition of Donald Pashby today was reported by hospital attendants as still serious. Besides a severed right leg he is suffering from back injuries and severe lacerations.

Mrs. Peterson was born in Waldo township and celebrated her fifty-sixth birthday last Dec. 7. She attended the Waldo schools and spent her early girlhood in the community. She had lived in Michigan for the last 30 years where her husband is employed with the Buick company at Flint.

Surviving with the husband, Daniel F. Peterson, and parents are three daughters, Mrs. Claudine Edson, Mrs. Raymond Allen and Mrs. Laura Sloat of Flint, and two sons, Ellsworth Peterson who is in California and Erwin Peterson of Flint. Ten grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Nora Luellen of Magnetic Springs, Mrs. Cecil Williams of Ostrander and Mrs. Clara Heavlin of Radnor and one brother, Grover Cramer of Girard avenue also survive. Mrs. Peterson was a member of the Baptist church at Mt. Morris, Mich.

Noreen Dixie Coenen, 15, was born Aug. 26, 1931, in Mt. Morris, Mich., and was a pupil in the tenth grade at Kearsley High school in Flint. Her father, Albert Coenen, a native of Montana, lives at Clio, Mich., and her mother, Mrs. Raymond Allen, daughter of Mrs. Peterson, whose birthplace is Marion, lives in Flint, Mich. Surviving also are two brothers, Ernest and Herman Coenen both of Flint.

Funeral services for the victims of the tragedy will be held at the Reformed church in Waldo at 1 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Peterson and her daughter Miss Bonnie Peterson will be buried in the cemetery at Waldo.

The body of Noreen Dixie Coenen will remain at the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue until the funeral hour. Following the services it will be returned to the mortuary and later taken to Flint, Mich. The bodies of the other victims also will be sent to Flint for burial.

Bonnie Peterson was graduated from the Magnetic Springs High school with the class of 1946 and was employed as a stenographer with an insurance firm in Flint. While attending High school she made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Cecil Williams. She was born in Mt. Morris, Mich., Dec. 5, 1928.

Lawrence L. Pashby was a veteran of World War II, and was employed as a production worker with the Buick plant. His parents are George M. and Edna Gower Pashby both of Clio, Mich. He was born in Gladwyn, Mich., June 1, 1922.

Wilma Pashby, 24, wife of Donald Pashby was born March 29, 1922, in Flint, Mich. Her marriage to Mr. Pashby took place March 29, last year.

FIRST ACCIDENT AT CROSSING IN 10 YEARS

The automobile-train crash Sunday afternoon at the Route 42 crossing in Cardington, which claimed the lives of six persons, is the first accident at that crossing in at least 10 years, according to reports from state highway patrol headquarters in Columbus.

Two other auto-train accidents which occurred in Cardington since 1937 both were at the Route 529 NYC crossing on North Marion street, the patrol reports show.

Mathew Palmer of Cardington, was killed there Feb. 18, 1941, when his auto was struck by a passing train. Second accident there was Dec. 3, 1944, when the automobile of Sanford Lee Roach of Cardington was struck after it had stalled on the tracks. Roach had climbed from his car before the crash and was not injured.

CLEVELAND OFFICER FOILS ROBBERY TRY

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 3—Theft of cash estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000 was thwarted last night by Patrolman Edward Przelomski, 29, who engaged in a gun battle with two Cleveland holdup men in the lobby of the Mahoning National Bank building, and killed one gunman and wounded another.

The slain man was identified as Earl Johnson, 24, of Cleveland, was wounded in the right arm. A third member of the gang, believed to have been waiting in a car, escaped.

Hugh Wilson, 44, a Youngstown municipal railway employe, was wounded in the left arm during the interchange of shots.

Przelomski and Wilson were taking the railway company's receipts from the ticket office to the bank. As they stepped into the lobby to drop the cash in the night depository, Brown, Przelomski reported, ordered him to "stick 'em up."

The patrolman shot Brown in the right arm and Brown's cocked revolver dropped from his hand. Johnson meanwhile fired two shots, one of which struck Wilson in the arm.

Przelomski then fired at Johnson and a bullet struck the robber between the eyes.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS 4 WRECKS

Total Casualties for Scattered Accidents 1 Killed, 4 Injured.

By The Associated Press

A Pennsylvania Railroad engineer was crushed to death under his overturned locomotive and four other train crewmen were injured in four different wrecks involving the railroad's trains last night.

The dead engineer was W. T. Nixon, of Blairsville, Pa. His train of 48 loaded cars rammed the end of a standing freight train at Kiski Junction, near Freeport, Pa.

Robert A. Albright, 27, of Pittsburgh, a fireman, was injured in the same collision. He suffered face burns from steam.

At Belvidere, N. J., three crewmen were injured when a Pennsylvania freight train plowed into the rear of a standing Lehigh and Hudson freight.

Injured were William Morris, 29, Phillipsburg, N. J., treated for second degree burns; William Phillips, 48, Phillipsburg, and Michael Moreken, 32, Belvidere treated for cuts.

Four miles east or Gallitzin, Pa., three cars of a freight left the tracks near the Bennington curve, where 24 persons died Feb. 18 in the wreck of the Pennsylvania's crack "Red Arrow."

The fourth mishap occurred at Baden, Pa., 30 miles down the Ohio river from Pittsburgh and the scene of a disastrous passenger train smash-up several years ago.

A guilding or "pony" wheel on the locomotive of a fast Pittsburgh-to-Cleveland train broke off from the engine, raced alongside the train for more than 1,000 feet then flew off the track and into a field. Passengers were transferred to another train at Leetsdale, Pa.

Violent Deaths Mount as British Clamp Martial Law on Much of Nation.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 3—Deaths by violence in Palestine mounted to 22 in three days with the shooting of a Jewish curfew violator in Tel Aviv today as the British arm, maintained martial law over a third of the Holy Land's 700,000 Jews.

British officials reported that Isaac Poli, 30-year-old Jewish ex-serviceman, was shot and killed while bicycling in Tel Aviv when he failed to heed a soldier's order to halt.

Second Curfew Death

His death was the second traceable to control measures imposed to facilitate a hunt for Jewish underground fighters. Ketti Shalom, four-year-old Jewess, died in a hospital yesterday. Officials said she was hit in the back of the head and her mother was wounded in the leg by bullets fired at Ketti's father, leaving the house in violation of a curfew. The two were standing on a balcony at the time. The officials reported Shalom walked out after a quarrel with his wife.

Martial law was in force for more than 250,000 Jews in Jerusalem's oldest and biggest Jewish district, the Mea Shearim section, and in a northern coastal-plain area measuring some four by 10 miles and embracing Tel Aviv, Remat Gan, Petah Tiqva, Benei Beraq and other Jewish communities.

A curfew keeping residents to their homes was lifted at dawn today in the coastal section. In the Jerusalem martial-law area, housing some 15,000 Jews, inhabitants were allowed out for the first time since 7 p. m. Saturday as a daily three-hour suspension of the curfew effective at 10 a. m.

Search for Extremists

Ninth-brigade infantrymen began a search for Jewish extremists today through twisted streets, cluttered alleys and rabbit-warren homes of the poverty-ridden vicinity of Mea Shearim. "The Place of a Hundred Gates." By invitation, Rabbi Moshe Goldman went along as observer in searches of religious institutions. The army reported that soldiers searching Tel Aviv had found a "considerable quantity" of arms and ammunition last night.

Keeping Costs Within Reasonable Limits . . .
Like nearly everything else, the cost of many items necessary to satisfactory funeral service has risen rapidly during these last months.
The easy way to meet such a situation is to merely pass those higher costs on to the customer. The management of the Hughes Funeral Home does not believe that the interests of our patrons are properly served by such a course.
By some ingenuity, and the use of more care in buying, we have held prices in line without sacrificing quality. It is something to remember when funeral service is required in these days of inflated prices.

Irish Whip Newark St. Francis 31-29 To Move Into Tourney Semi-Finals

Schuler Tips Winning Bucket; To Play Ostrander Wednesday

By GEORGE ROEST

In a battle of the Irish, St. Mary's local brand of Shamrocks whipped Newark St. Francis 31 to 29 Saturday night at Westerville to advance to the semi-finals in the Central District class B tournament. They are the only Marion county team left in tourney action.

Although St. Mary never trailed, they were hard-pressed throughout the game by the favored Newark quintet. Four times the St. Francis crew tied the ball game into a knot.

The last of the heart-stopping rallies on their part came with 10 seconds of the game remaining. With an overtime period almost a certainty, Pat Bray fed the ball to Dick Schuler, who had been unable to hit all evening. With the chips down, Schuler laid in a sucker shot as the game ended.

Toughest on Irish Menu

Newark was regarded by many observers of the tournament as the top club in the lower bracket and the way now seems clear for the Irish to annex their second district title in six years.

The Irish made a good display of team work. All players contributed to the cause and Dick "Lefty" Drake's eight points was high for the Irish. Strum of Newark equaled this.

Although not discrediting the Irish accomplishment, it must be pointed out that had Newark not failed almost completely from the foul line the final result may have been slightly different. They had 19 chances to score free of charge but made good only three times. St. Mary equaled their gratis total although they got only six opportunities.

To Meet Ostrander

It won't be clear sailing to the crown but the caliber of Irish opposition will not again be as high as it was Saturday night.

Wednesday, in the semi-finals, they meet Ostrander, which down Mt. Gilead 50 to 35 in a quarter final match, and provided this tough Delaware county opponent can be conquered, will play in the finals against Granville or Columbus Rosary, the latter a club which once set the Irish down and bowed to them in the final season game.

After that game, the Columbus squad promised their coach W. Woodward a victory if he would draw St. Mary in the tournament. Considering these angles a St. Mary and Columbus Rosary clash for the district title should be classic.

Other tournament results Saturday were Plain City 37, Galena 26; Worthington 40, Alexandria 20; Marysville 58, Pleasantville 30; Sunbury 40, Grove City 33, a decided upset; Granville 35, Groveport 34, nearly an upset as Granville fought from behind and stalled out; and Columbus Rosary 43, Perry Township 33. The Rosarians also were almost upset but gained the advantage in the last quarter.

Old Irish Custom

It's an old Irish custom for the driver of the bus which transports them to the district tournament to honk the horn when the bus passes under the railroad over pass south of Delaware. It might not have anything to do with it but the Irish are usually one of the hotter tournament teams.

TITLE-AFFECTING BIG NINE DECISION DUE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 3 — A decision on the important unfinished Purdue-Wisconsin basketball game, which will determine if the Big Nine championship is to be shared or won outright by the Badgers, was promised today by Kenneth L. Wilson, conference commissioner.

Where, when and how the game will be played will be decided in a "telephone conference" with Guy Mackey and Harry Stuhldreher, athletic directors of Purdue and Wisconsin, respectively, Wilson said.

Halted at halftime last Monday night with the host team, Purdue, leading 34-33, after a bleacher section collapsed killing three students, the game may be replayed Saturday either at is original setting in the Purdue fieldhouse or on a neutral court.

With Indiana beating Illinois 48-41 and Minnesota downing Wisconsin 58-55 last Saturday, the game poses three title possibilities:

1. Wisconsin, by beating Purdue, can win the championship outright with a record of nine victories and three defeats and thus enter a strong bid to represent the fourth district in the NCAA tournament in New York.
2. If Wisconsin loses, it will share the crown with Illinois.
3. If Wisconsin loses and Indiana beats Purdue tonight, Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana would share the title each with 8-4 records.

In addition to the Indiana-Purdue game tonight, Michigan is at Ohio State in a Big Nine windup.

80 Cub Hopefuls To Attend Training Camp

Special to The Star

CHICAGO, Ill., March 3—More than 80 young ball players from 12 of the 19 teams in the Cubs' farm system will attend the Chicago Cubs G1 training camp at St. Augustine, Fla., starting March 10. Announcement was made by Jack Sheehan, director of the Cubs farm system, who will conduct the training sessions.

Following the Florida drills, the players will report to their respective clubs in the Cub network. Sheehan will be assisted in the three-week training period by nine of the Cubs' minor league managers, seven scouts and Bob O'Connell, business manager of the camp, who is also business manager of the Janesville Cubs of the class "D" Wisconsin State league.

Among those attending the camp will be Marion Cub manager Nelson Burbring and first baseman James Forbes of Chicago.

Boudreau Says Tribe Will Be in Good Shape

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 3—Manager Lou Boudreau says the lack of holdouts will make this year's Cleveland Indians club the best conditioned of any he has piloted.

"It wasn't only that the holdouts weren't in good shape when we opened the season but most of them never were completely satisfied and reflected that attitude in their work," Boudreau said. "I'm happy to say that we will not have those problems this year."

Only two Tribesmen remain as holdouts, catcher Tom Jordan and first baseman Heinz Becker. Neither one affects the plans for 1947.

Stan Musial Ends Holdout Campaign

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3 — Stan Musial has ended his holdout campaign and will stay with the St. Louis Cardinals, probably at the highest salary in the club's history. His salary is a secret but the final compromise reputedly is close to his original demand of $28,000.

Back in the Gas House Gang days, club owner Breadon once paid Dizzy Dean $25,500 for one year's work, and after that no other Cardinal ever approached such a figure, but a source who can't possibly be wrong says Stan now will get more than Diz received.

Musial, who won the National league batting crown in 1946 with a .365 average, has been working on a long-term salary deal based on a $14,000 pre-war level. So far he has failed to realize his ambition of becoming the highest paid man in the National league, but he has doubled his 1946 pay.

2 More Ohio Cage Giants Bite Net Tournament Dust

By The Associated Press

West Union and Christiansburg-Jackson are the latest of the undefeated high school basketball teams to fall in the various sectional tournaments which lead to the state championship tournaments to be held in Columbus March 20-21-22 . . . West Union of Adams county and Christiansburg-Jackson of Champaign county each had unbroken strings of 21 victories—until Saturday.

West Union ran into a tartar when it played Kitts Hill of Lawrence county in the Waverly county tournament . . . Kitts Hill won that one 62 to 40, and a litt'e guard named Large did the dirty work as he poured 34 points through the hoops.

Christiansburg-Jackson took it on the chin from South Charleston in the event at Springfield, 30 to 26, and the game was such a battle that Snapp of the losing team was knocked unconscious in the second period. Christiansburg played without the services of Bill Harvey, high scoring forward, who was ill.

That leaves Bettsville (25-0) and Frazeysburg (27-0) as the only undefeated B teams while Upper Arlington (20-0) and Bryan (17-0) are the top teams in A right now . . . Bettsville meets Gibsonburg (17-4) Friday; Frazeysburg tangles with Zanesville St. Thomas on Tuesday and Upper Arlington goes against its neighbor, Grandview, of suburban Columbus on Wednesday.

A couple of former state champions are slated to face each other Monday night at Dayton in the A sectional . . . Middletown will play Northridge in the third game on the Coliseum program . . . Northridge was B champ two years ago, but has since risen into A status, and Middletown is the defending champion in class A. That means Northridge and Upper Arlington, also a former state B champ, are trying to become the first schools ever to win both classifications.

Yorkville of Jefferson county, another B titlist, is hot on the trail of another state crown. Its 22nd straight victory was a 78 to 75 decision over Adena Saturday night, and that 153 points in one game is tops for the tournaments to date. Yorkville has a season record of 27 wins and three defeats.

Springfield's hopes went aglimmering over the weekend when Springfield Public was knocked out of A by Dayton Dunbar and Springfield Catholic lost to Dayton Fairmount. That leaves Dayton with four teams still in the running — Chaminade, Stivers, Dunbar and Fairmount.

Wins Thriller

Canton Lehman dropped its second game of the season to Canton Catholic in the last seconds by a 42 to 41 margin. The Dennison A tournament resumes this week with Uhrichsville playing Dover and Zanesville tangling with Cambridge. Doylestown won a thriller in the B sectional finals at Ashland by edging Rittman 50 to 49.

Findlay's 43 to 26 win over Galion makes the record for Findlay 16 wins and two losses. East Canton and North Canton moved to district play this week with fine records, East Canton's reading 20-2 and North Canton's being 16-4. Grove City's 19-2 was unceremoniously spoiled by Sunbury (24-3) during a 40 to 33 engagement at Westerville where Newark St. Francis (24-2) was halted by Marion St. Mary in the Central District's biggest upset. The score was 31 to 29.

Ashland's 72-31 victory over Port Clinton set a Sandusky tournament record and ran Ashland's record to 17-2. Discontent over seeding procedures at Dayton have been voiced in Hamilton when no effort was made to place Hamilton Catholic and Hamilton Public in different brackets.

Ex-Cardinals Dix And Kline Team At Johnson City

Two of last year's Marion Cardinal baseballers will work together this year in the operation of the Johnson City, Tenn., team of the class D Appalachian league. Bob Kline, who managed the Marion team in the latter part of the 1946 campaign after Wally Schang resigned will be the field general for the St. Louis Cardinal owned team at Johnson City. Don Dix, an outfielder, who finished the season of 1945 here and started the race last year will be the business manager. Dix, who has had several years experience in baseball as a player, although he still is in his early twenties lives at Beckley, W. Va., will be the youngest business manager in baseball according to the Sporting News.

He started in baseball at the age of 16, playing for his home town team in the Mountain State league. He later performed in the Pony league and Newark in the Ohio States loop before coming to Marion. Since his release here last June he has been a sportswriter for the Beckley Daily News.

Dix and Kline were not on the Marion group together as big Bob did not come to Marion until around the first of August after Dix left in June. Kline was released by the Marion club when the local owners signed a new working agreement with the Chicago Cubs, dropping their affiliation with the St. Louis chain gang.

The Cubs preferred to choose the manager and sent Nelson Burbrink to take over which left Kline out in the cold. Through his friendship with Al Bannister of the Columbus Red Birds and his experience here with the Card farm team Kline had little difficulty getting his new assignment from Sam Breadon of the Cards.

BUDDY HASSET EXHIBITS the worst "break" in his baseball career. In the third game of the world series between the Yankees and the Cards in 1942 he broke his thumb when he bunted a foul pop fly. He never played in the majors again. He'll manage the Norfolk Tars in the Piedmont league this year.

New Purdue Grid Coach Well-Known in Marion

"Stu" Holcomb, recently appointed Purdue grid mentor, is a familiar personality to many in Marion who have been following local football fortunes.

While coaching at Muskingum college and later at Miami he appeared here as the featured speaker at several of the annual football banquets.

Capital Can Sew Up Ohio Cage Honors in Kenyon Tilt Tonight

By The Associated Press

Tonight is the night Capital's Lutherans hope to wrap up a Ohio collegiate basketball honors by stopping a fair-to-middlin Kenyon team in the Lutherans final Ohio conference outing.

If the Caps win—they haven't been defeated since they lost the only two decisions in 17 overall contests Jan. 18 and 22—secure place Baldwin-Wallace can only go through the motions tomorrow night at Berea against the Case quintet that hasn't won in 23 games.

The status in the conference with both contenders having just one remaining game looks like this

	W.	L.	Pct.	Win	Lose
Capital	13	1	.929	.933	.867
B. - W	11	1	.917	.923	.846

While Capital, which last week clinched the overall state mythical championship, may take all the percentage laurels they'll never be able to convince followers of Bowling Green state university they're the toast of Ohio. The Bee Gees, with 34 games under their belts — 27 of which they have won—have taken a fall in the averages only because of the greater number of engagements they've had.

Both Capital and Bowling Green sport winning streaks at present, the Bee Gees boasting nine in a row and the Caps eight. Bowling Green last was defeated in the round-robin tourney at Chicago Feb. 2 when Loyola measured the Ohio squad, 54 to 45.

The upstate Falcons tomorrow night will meet Findlay's Oilers, a victim in the latest splurge.

In running up 2,064 points for the campaign, Bowling Green also has scored more times than any other Ohio contemporary. They have a nifty defensive record of only 618 points tallied against them in 34 tilts.

WASHINGTON, March 3 — Watch your deductions in filing your 1946 income tax return. They may save you money.

A deduction is the amount of money for personal or business expenses you can deduct from your total income before it is taxable.

You can deduct many expenses. Some kinds of income, being tax-exempt, don't have to be reported at all.

James Marlow

The size of the deductions will decide for many people the kind of tax return they use.

If your income was $5,000 or over you have no choice about forms. You must file on the 1040 long-form. When you use the long-form:

1. You can take the standard $500 deduction allowed everyone, without itemizing or accounting for any of it. Just take $500, provided your income was $5,000 or over.

2. Or if your deductions were actually more than $500, you can claim them in full but, in that case, you must itemize every penny.

Can Go One of Two Ways

Suppose your income was under $5,000. You, too, depending upon your individual case can do one of two things.

1. You can file on form W-2, the withholding statement, or on the 1040 short-form. Either way you're automatically allowed a 10 per cent deduction for expenses, even though they weren't that much.

That 10 per cent already has been allowed for in the tax-table used with those two forms.

2. Or, if your deductions were actually more than 10 per cent, you can use the 1040 long-form. Then you'll have to itemize your deductions, and work out your tax. But you can claim them in full.

Here's some tax-exempt income which doesn't have to be reported:

Unemployment compensation; life insurance paid because of the death of the insured; social security benefits; mustering-out pay; monthly allowances to the families of servicemen; sickness and injury benefits received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation laws; inheritances or bequests of money or property, although the income from them is taxable. (Gifts to relatives or other individuals can't be deducted by the person making the gift.)

(Exemptions on annuities is too complicated to go into here. If you have a question about them, ask your internal revenue collector.)

Deductible Expenses

Here are deductible expenses:

Charitable contributions (the total of them can't exceed 15 per cent of income and can't be made to individuals) to charitable, religious, scientific, fraternal and veterans organizations, and non-profit educational institutions.

Here are other deductible expenses:

Interest paid on personal debts, such as bank loans and mortgages, state income and personal property and real estate taxes except those taxes—like paving assessments—which tend to increase the value of your property.

State gasoline taxes (except in Alabama, California, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah and Wyoming); sales taxes (if tax is separately on price tag); property losses from theft or fire, storm, auto accidents; a special $500 deduction for the blind, use of your car for business, which includes the cost of gasoline, oil, grease, repairs, cleaning; union dues, entertaining for business purposes, subscriptions to professional journals, books, newspapers and magazines bought for use in your profession, equipment, tools and instruments used on your job, cost of work clothes and uniforms when not taking the place of ordinary clothing, and alimony (the husband who pays it can deduct it but the divorced wife who receives it must report it as part of her income.)

Unless paid for business purpose you can't deduct the following federal taxes, on admissions to theaters and sporting events, club dues, telephone and telegraph services, and transportation, such as railroad and bus fares.

You can deduct for medical, hospital and dental expenses to this extent: up to 5 per cent of your income they're not deductible. After that they are but—

They're limited to $1,250 if you file a return for yourself alone, or $2,500 if you claim more than one exemption. Example:

Your income was $6,000. Five per cent of that is $300. But your medical expenses were $500. Subtract the $300 from the $500. That leaves you $200 to deduct from your income as medical expenses.

LEADING STOCKS LOOK FOR LOWER GROUND

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 3—Leading stocks sought lower territory today in one of the slowest markets of the past several months.

The ticker tape loafed from the start.

Public customers again held aloof to await news regarding taxes, labor, business and foreign affairs. Both buying and selling still was largely in the hands of professionals who were more than ordinarily cautious.

Eastman Kodak was an exception, adding about 4 points as splitup talk for this stock persisted. Coca-Cola lost about 6 on a few sales.

Stumblers included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Anaconda, American melting, Phelps Dodge, Air Reduction, American Can, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Philip Morris, Great Northern Railway, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe.

10 LABOR LAW POINTS NAMED

Congressman Includes Ban on Closed Shop, Membership for Foremen.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 3 — Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), today ticked off ten points the house labor committee may put into new labor bill, including bans on the closed shop and on union membership for foremen and some columnists and radio commentators.

Some of the items already have been handed to a drafting crew to be translated into legislative language. All are subject to formal votes in the committee.

They are intended to reduce or eliminate such things as jurisdictional strikes, secondary boycotts, and strikes ordered by only a small percentage of a union's membership.

Hartley told a reporter he thinks there is "a good chance" the committee will agree that radio and news reporters who "mold public opinion" should be forbidden to join unions. He said reporters who do "straight away" news writing should be exempt from the ban.

In Line with Suggestion

It would be in line with a suggestion by former publisher J. David Stern, who earlier this year suspended and sold his Philadelphia Record and Camden, N. J., Courier and Post. Stern told the committee a CIO American newspaper Guild strike destroyed the papers.

None of Hartley's ten points deals directly with the issue before the committee at the moment—charges of Communism in the labor movement.

The committee today recalled Harold Christoffel, honorary president of the local CIO-United Auto Workers union which has been on strike ten months against the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee, makers of farm and other machinery.

Disputed Company Testimony

Christoffel and Robert Buse, union president, on Saturday, disputed testimony of company officials that the strike was Communist inspired and that every officer of the local is a Communist party members or follows the party line.

The senate labor committee took the day off. It has more organized labor spokesmen on tap tomorrow and plans to end its public hearings Saturday after hearing John L. Lewis on Friday.

Lewis' soft coal strike truce runs out March 31, and both senate and house committee have been aiming at a new labor law before then.

Hartley, however, noted that his committee still has a long list of witnesses to be heard, adding to a reporter:

"I'm mighty leary of the prospects of getting a bill through congress by the end of the month."

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), of the senate labor committee mentioned May 1 in a broadcast last night as the date by which a bill may be passed and signed into law, if President Truman agrees to its terms.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

OLGA VERITZEN, once queen of Transvania, is not a woman who dodges issues. She meets every problem squarely and without quibbling. Because of that, I knew that I must not evade or parry her question, but must give an honest answer to it.

"Yes, Olga," I said, "I do mean that I am afraid of the punishment Philip may mete out to Mary for this amazing action of hers. But, please believe me, I cannot blame him. She has behaved atrociously. In the shock of her arrival, I am afraid I gave little thought to Philip's side of this. But now I see everything clearly, and I want him to know that I cannot blame him, no matter what he decides to do."

"But I can," she said, and I realized that, subconsciously, I had expected her to say just that.

Reason for Staying

"That is the reason I am here in your study now," she went on, "and why I wish to stay here at least an hour, perhaps more, unless—" she looked at me ruefully—"I am interrupting your work. You see I have heard Philip's impatient telephone calls."

"My work—and everything else of mine—must wait upon this problem of Mary's," I said firmly. "Until that is settled, I couldn't write a line. But, tell me, is Philip implacable—or is he—"

I faltered, and she looked at me with complete understanding in her great luctrous eyes.

"I hope," she said with the wraith of a smile touching her lips, "that he is—how do you say it over here? — 'blowing off steam.'"

"If he only is!" I said fervently. "But, in the past, before you came back into his life, his anger was apt to be tenacious. You have made a great change in him, my dear."

"That is why," she said, "I want to leave him to himself. I do not want him to put himself on record before me about what action he expects to take concerning Mary."

Anger Is Hot

"His anger is very hot against her now," she said sadly. "But, I am hoping that, when he has had time to think over the disquieting information the sanitarium physician gave him, he will begin to see that it was not willful, callous flouting of him on Mary's part, as he now thinks, but that she is being driven by something beyond her control."

The room seemed suddenly icy, as if a door had been blown open and the wintry air outside had rushed in. What Olga was saying was bearing out the impression I had had of something hidden, secret. I shied at the words, "sinister," but it had come into my mind involuntarily.

I caught at the clue Olga just had given me, for I knew that she would not bring up something she could not discuss.

"Is that 'disquieting information' something that I may hear?" I asked her.

One of the Reasons

"But, of course," she said. "That is one of my reasons for coming down. The 'other ninety-nine,' as Mary would say"—the wavering ghost of a smile touched her lips again—"are behind my endeavor to leave Philip alone that he may have time to get his resentment out of his system. I am quoting Mary again, you see."

"You will be a full-fledged American slangster before you know it," I told her affectionately, then stiffened in sudden alarm.

"Does Philip know where you are?" I asked. "Will he be apt to come down here after you? That would be fatal. He must not know that Mary came to me first, or that she sent us a wire announcing her coming.

Her face shadowed, and I knew that she was thinking of her husband's jealousy of his own prestige, the thing from which his "royal rages" usually stemmed, the terrifying flew in what otherwise was a wonderful personality, kind, generous and honorable, except when he yielded to the "too much ego in his cosmos." The almost forgotten line from Kipling leaped into my memory as a perfect characterization of Philip Veritzen.

"No. He must not know these things," she said. "But, do not fear. He will not come here. I told him I was coming down here to tell you and Dicky about the physician's report on Mary, and, even in his anger, he was just enough to acknowledge that you must be told.

"I asked him not to disturb us by even a telephone, for two hours at the longest," she went on, adding serenely, "and I know he will not disregard that request."

I looked at my wrist watch in sudden alarm.

"Noel will be home before two hours have passed," I said. "He must not find Mary here."
